

By Stephen Tanzer

September 2018

94-96 Points

Grand Cru Chevalier-Montrachet 2017

...Compellingly silky, rich and sweet, with its ripe citrus flavors joined by spices, wild herbs and anise. For all its early mid-palate appeal, this wine finishes classically dry and firm, with an almost tannic impression and great rising, palate-saturating length. Wonderfully classy and light on its feet, this wine boasts the strongest projection of inner-mouth aromatics of all of these 2017s to this point.

93-95 Points

Grand Cru Montrachet 2017

Deep aromas of mirabelle, spices and iodiney minerality. The fattest and largest of these '17s, both more tactile and sweeter than the Cabotte. But this also shows more energy than the Cabotte and finishes with a serious tannic spine and the rocky minerality to support a slow evolution in bottle. While showy already, this should be long-lived in the context of its vintage.

92-95 Points

Grand Cru Corton-Charlemagne 2017

Aromas of lime, white flowers, spices and hazelnut. Powerful, thick, rich and deep; wonderfully silky and broad but with terrific spicy acidity giving it a light touch. This is extract-rich for a yield of nearly 45 hectoliters per hectare. Finishes tactile, dry and long, with an impression of tannic spine and repeating nutty nuances.

92-94 Points

Grand Cru Montrachet La Cabotte 2017

Deeper-pitched and less expressive today than the "regular" Chevalier-Montrachet, but hinting at floral and herbal high notes. Then richer, deeper and chewier in the mouth, conveying an almost aggressive quality to its flavors of ripe yellow fruits, citrus peel, menthol and saline minerality. Larger-scaled and more backward, finishing with a tannic impression and serious weight. A finishing note of iodine extends the dry, classic finish.

91-94 Points

Grand Cru Bâtard-Montrachet 2017

Sexy ripe aromas of yellow peach, fresh apricot, spices, hazelnut and minerals. Fat, chewy and sweet, but with lovely inner-mouth perfume to lighten its weight. This doesn't show quite the light touch of the Corton-Charlemagne but the finish is scented, firm and long.

